

From the bottom it looks impossible. But you grit your teeth and grab a fistful of power.

The AT-1B 125 Enduro looks better and better as the going gets steeper and rougher. You begin to notice some unusual virtues: a wide-ratio 5-speed gearbox takes advantage of a broad power band with a lower low for more flexibility in the tough stuff. An electric starter makes life easier when you stop in an awkward place. Try an AT-1B like the one below and on the right, above. Or try a little bigger version, the CT-1B 175 Enduro, also shown above. Either way, when you get to the top of the hill it will be absolutely beautiful.
